	The member of staff was coming from the kitchen

What happened

through to the restaurant with a tray of chips. She had to walk over a floor covering which encloses pipes below and has a metal outer rim( it is flush with the rest of the floor. Her shoe seemed to stick on the rim and she fell forward. She put her arm out to save the chips and herself. She hit a trolley which was in front of her. A lump has come up on her hand/wrist which is painful when she flexes it. A supervisor who heard her cry out came to her assistance. She got her to sit down and made her a sugary drink as she was in shock. The member of staff was brought round to the catering office where she was advised to go to A&E.

	IP banged my Knee at work in April 2015 which lead to IP going to A & E they reported that IP had Traumatic Bursitis which over time would go away. After this episode IP was referred to the Knee clinic @ Good Hope Hospital who gave a steroid injection to reduce the swelling. After this episode IP had a further fall in the Chemotherapy Day Unit where it is believed that the leg of chair opened a draw and IP then fell over the open draw leading to an attendance at A & E. Only left arm Xrayed which IP had previously had surgery on. The swelling on IP knee increased which was reviewed and believed it was exacerbation of the previous Bursitis. Therefore that was not Xrayed, but over time it got worse. IP referred to Trauma and Orthopedic Doctor @ Heartlands Hospital. IP has since undergone surgery on 27 January 2016 and will be off work for 6 weeks.

What happened	IP arrived for work, parked car. While walking from carpark to the main entrance IP walked down the small grass slope that joins the two car parks. The ground was muddy from the rain, IP slipped and landed on sacrum. IP unable to put hands down as IP was carrying a bag and a bottle of water. IP was immediately in pain. Incident follow-up Lead H&S Advisor visited the area, there is a slabbed footpath present to be used by the staff that use that particular carpark. A suggestion has been put forward to the estates team to review the current pathway and possibly put another one in. Update on IP, fractured F1, is currently off work awaiting referral to see a consultant.
